

Environmental, Social, Governance

New ESG policies to deliver granular information are the order of the day but practices will be evolving for some time.

The bar has been set high by both customers and regulators, and any misinterpretation could result in disadvantages in the market or fines.

Given the high stakes, new capabilities are needed to keep systems and data up to speed with market expectations.

JWG RegDelta offers NLP-powered solutions to streamline policy development, reduce project timelines, and provide significant recurring savings. With RegDelta, managing policies and data rules becomes easy, ensuring compliance with the ever-changing ESG landscape.

ESG – the business challenge

The introduction of regulatory frameworks like the SFDR, MiFID II, and EU Taxonomy Regulation, are not mere box ticking exercises. Much of the data required is new and best practices are only just emerging.

However, customer and regulatory expectations are high and without the right interpretation your data is unlikely to hit the mark.

Failure to produce accurate disclosures can disadvantage your organisation in the marketplace, incur hefty penalties, and even result in European market exclusion.

Most firms struggle with spreadsheets to make sense of policy obligations and define data needs. That's where RegDelta comes in.
